Clinical Counseling

DFYF's staff of licensed social workers and counselors provide home/school/community-based individual and family counseling for youth ages 5-17* and their families. Services include counseling, community support services, advocacy, and referral. Counseling services address a range of concerns including specialty areas:

- School Connections partnership with South-Western City Schools, Worthington Schools and Columbus City Schools to provide counseling and prevention support services to students, families and teachers/administration.
- Outreach Counseling for youth ages 5-17 and their families.
- Building Bright Futures for youth in grades K-3 who are at risk for school failure.
- PROMISES for youth ages 5-17 who are survivors of reported or suspected sexual abuse.
- Children Who Witness Violence for youth ages 5-17 to reduce traumatic effects of witnessing violence and prevent future violence.
- Children of Murdered Parents and Siblings for youth ages 5-17 who have lost a loved one to homicide.
- Healthy Alternatives for Youth ages 12-17 who have substance use issues.
- Youth Pride for youth ages 10-17, who identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, questioning, intersex, asexual, or have gender identity issues.
- Teen Parent Connection for pregnant or parenting youth through age 22 and their families.
- Outpatient Counseling (office or telehealth) for children ages 10+, adolescents, and adults.

 age 18 if still in high school*

Early Childhood

Ready Set Grow - in-home kindergarten readiness program working directly with children and parent/guardian to enhance learning and assist parents with child development skills. For families with children 3 to 6 years old (who are not yet enrolled in kindergarten).

After-School/Summer Programs

Our after-school and summer programming provides an environment that is safe, fun, and educational. Youth ages 8-18 participate in art, music, dance, recreation, homework help and leadership development. Our prevention groups focus on healthy decision making and how to deal with challenges all youth face.
